Other Considerations When Planning Your Event:

How many players are you expecting?

How much would you like to incorporate for a buy in?

How much would you like to go towards the charity?

Cost per player?

There is a $5.00 per person dealer gratuity plus the cost of food.

Will there be re-buys?

Re-buys are a good way to raise extra money during the tournament. This money can be added to the prize pool or the monies collected can go directly to the charity. Typically each player will receive 2000 in chips at the beginning of the tournament. The event coordinator will determine how much to charge for each re-buy, and this will give an individual 1000 more in chips. Re-buys should be decided while planning the event, and before advertising for the event begins.

Will there be bounties?

A bounty is a prize (cash or merchandise) that is awarded to the person that knocks a designated person(s) out of the tournament.

What will the payout structure be?

It can be cash, prizes, trophies or a combination.

What type of food and beverages will you serve?

Get your evening off to a winning start with one of menu selections. If your group has a special taste in mind let group sales know and we will work something out. Bar options are also available.

Will you need any poker training?

We will provide you a brief introduction before your tournament begins. If desired we are able to arrange a night or two prior to your event to come into the poker room of choice for a few hands on lessons.

What will your time table be?

Example: 5:30 – 6:30 – Registration/Cocktail
 6:30 – Food served and will be left out for up to 2 hours
 7:00 – Poker Lesson
 7:15 – Tournament Begins
